

BEFORE YOU CALL

The questions families ask first.

What is an adult family home?

A regular house in a neighborhood, licensed by Washington State, where a small number of adults live and are cared for — usually no more than six.

How is it different from assisted living?

Assisted living is a large building with a front desk. This is a house. The same few people care for your parent every day, and you talk straight to them.

What does it cost?

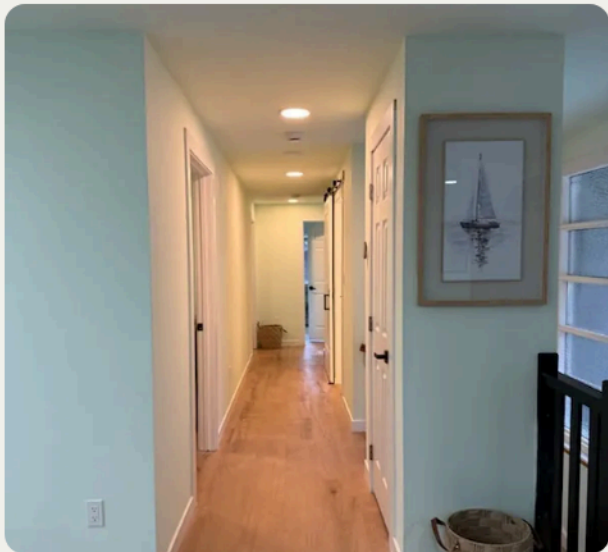

It depends how much help your parent needs. Call and we will give you a straight number.

Do you have room?

Openings change. Call and we will tell you what is open today, or say so if we are full.

Can we visit first?

Yes, and we hope you will. Walking through the house is the only real way to know if it fits your family.

COME AND SEE

Come see it for yourself.

You cannot tell much from photos. Come walk through the house, meet us, and see how it feels. Call or text and we will find a time.

ADULT FAMILY HOME

A small home where someone knows your parent by name.

Around-the-clock care in a real house on a quiet street in Everett, Washington.

OUR CARE

What we help with, every day.

Bathing and dressing

Help washing, dressing, and getting around the house safely.

Medications on time

Given when they should be, written down, refilled before they run out.

Home-cooked meals

Three meals a day, cooked in the kitchen, adjusted for your parent's diet.

Someone here all night

Not an alarm or an answering service. A person, awake, in the house.

A real house, not a facility. Your mom or dad is known by name, not by room number.

WHAT WE KNOW BEST

Experienced in the care that is hardest to place.

Memory care

Dementia and Alzheimer's. A calm, familiar place where the same people notice the small changes early.

Mental health

A steady routine and staff who understand that some days are harder than others.

DDA — developmental disabilities

We work with DDA case managers and welcome referrals.

DAILY LIFE

A day at Everett Lighthouse.

Steady, unhurried, and built around the person rather than a schedule.

MORNING A gentle start

Washing and dressing at your parent's own pace, then breakfast together at the table.

MIDDAY A hot lunch

A home-cooked meal, medications on schedule, and time to sit in the light of the front room.

AFTERNOON Company and rest

Talking, television, a visit from family, or a nap. Whatever the day calls for.

EVENING Settled for the night

Dinner, evening medications, and help getting to bed, with someone awake all night.

Families are welcome any time. Come see the home before you decide.
